

A new film has dealt yet another severe blow to the credibility of US based Monsanto, one of the biggest chemical companies in the world and the provider of the seed technology for 90 percent of the world's genetically engineered (GE) crops.

The French documentary, called "The World According to Monsanto" and directed by independent filmmaker Marie-Monique Robin, paints a grim picture of a company with a long track record of environmental crimes and health scandals.

On March 11 "The World According to Monsanto" was aired on French television (ARTE – French-German cultural tv channel). The gigantic biotech corporation Monsanto is threatening to destroy the agricultural biodiversity which has served mankind for thousands of years. A documentary that Americans won't ever see... UNTIL NOW... the US version has finally hit the US market and HopeDance FiLMs is screening it this week!!!
