

Getting Nature Connected Weekend Series

Core Routines of Nature Connection September 17&18, 2010

*How is our physiology linked with ecology?
What practices are available to us that can connect us deeply with the natural world and ourselves?*

Join us for an essential weekend for anyone who wants to deepen their connection with the land and life we share this planet with. The skills covered in this weekend are foundational and will transform your relationship to the natural world and your self - no matter what your level of experience is.

Through inspiring stories and a diversity of activities in the field, we will together immerse ourselves in the Core Routines of Nature Connection.

Getting Nature Connected is an immersion into building relationships with all aspects of the natural world in a way that produces knowledge of place and weaves our lives with the rhythms of nature.

Each weekend includes Friday Night Storytelling with internationally recognized author and speaker Jon Young, followed by Saturdays all day out in the field.

Tuition: Single Weekend = $135 each, Whole Series = $895*

(*Includes 4 additional Seasonal Community Festivals)

Children: Each weekend includes simultaneous kids programs

Location: Santa Cruz Waldorf School, 2190 Empire Grade Santa Cruz, CA
