

ABUNDANCE IN BALANCE DESIGN PRESENTS: Earthworks for Water Harvesting and Winter Preparation October 3 & 4, 2009 - 10-5PM

How can we harvest the abundance of winter rainwater and store it in the landscape to create an oasis? How can we transform the destructive power of runoff water into a regenerative resource for the land and our lives? In this course we will cover the essentials of urban rainwater harvesting earthworks including design tips, reading the landscape and implementing earthwork details.

Topics:

Day 1: Lecture, Layout, and Basins/Day 2: Swales, Paths, Cover Cropping and Sheet Mulch
Please arrive half an hour early to be ready for our day!

Cost:

$25-$60 (sliding scale) for 1 Day*/$35-$100 (sliding scale) for 2 Days*

Course Instructors:

Andy Webster, Andy Webster is lead designer for Waking Water Designs, an ecological design business that believes in seeing through the lens of water as a foundation for ecological design. Andy received a BS in Hydrology and has since worked in applying this knowledge towards regenerative design both in residential and commercial settings.
Devin Slavin, workshop organizer, designer for Abundance In Balance Design, co-founder of the Grow Food Party Crew.

For Registration:

Email Devin@AbundanceInBalance.com with the subject "Hands-on Permaculture Series." You will be sent a registration form. Once we receive your filled out form and payment, registration is complete. Online registration will be available on www.AbundanceInBalance.com soon.

Examples of Past Workshops:

Search Youtube.com for "Creating and Edible Oasis" and/or "Greywater Workshop Laundry to Landscape" for videos of past workshops.

Upcoming Workshops in the Series

Cob Oven – October 10/11, 2009

Greywater – November 14/15, 2009

Native Skills and Awareness – December 12/13, 2009

Food Forestry – February 6/7, 2010

Veggie Gardening – February 27/28, 2010

Chickens in the Backyard – March 27/28, 2010

Discounts for the Series:

Discounts – Please inquire about discounts for groups of 3 or more & a discount for doing multiple courses.
Courses must be paid for all at once to receive discounts.

Our prices have been lowered to meet the current economic challenges. Please pay what you can. Prices are subject to be adjusted at any time and will only be secured by registration and payment.*

Abundance In Balance Design

"Creating an oasis on a day-to-day basis."

www.AbundanceInBalance.com