

zero waste business conference

Marina Village Conference Center
San Diego

Wednesday, February 24, 2010
9AM—5PM

Top business and environmental experts will show how Zero Waste strategies can save businesses money and aid compliance with county and upcoming state commercial source separation requirements, while benefiting the environment and public health.

At this Conference, you will learn how to:

- Reduce your waste management costs
- Save on consumption of energy and materials
- Lower distribution costs
- Improve your image among regulators, customers, and the public
- Establish a framework for continual environmental performance improvement

Featured Speakers:

Charles Moore, Algalita Marine Research Foundation
Ryan McMullan, Toyota Motor Sales
Sue Beets, SBM Site Services, Hewlett-Packard Waste Mgmt.
Jo Licata, San Francisco Hilton
Nancy Strauss, Del Mar Fairgrounds

Much more! Other presenters will describe details of ZERO WASTE programs at office/administrative facilities and discuss the regulatory environment relative to commercial solid waste.

Register at www.EarthResource.org or call (949) 645-5163

Save $50! Register by February 10th

The San Diego Zero Waste Business Conference is co-hosted by Zero Waste San Diego and Earth Resource Foundation, two non-profit organizations whose collective mission is to empower businesses and the public with the tools needed to make environmentally sustainable choices and changes where people live, work, and play.

Many thanks to our supporting sponsors

Silver Level:

EDCO
San Diego Earthworks

Waste Management
ERA Communications

Bronze Level:

Allied Waste
Sunset Waste Systems