

Introduction to Cob & Natural Building Workshop At Quail Springs Permaculture Farm

This 6 day workshop is designed to teach you the skills needed to build your own earthen structure.

Taught by Sasha Rabin, Paul Swenson, and Betty Seaman

April 25th ~ May 1st ~ 6 days

In southern CA, 2 hours from Santa Barbara

Cost $550

Early bird discount: register by March 25th and get 10% off $495

In this six day cob workshop, we focus on the characteristics of the natural materials most commonly used in construction: clay soil, sand, and fibers. Our main focus will be cob, though we will touch on various other building techniques that utilize the same materials, including adobe block, light straw-clay, wattle and daub, and plasters.

Workshop fees include:

- three delicious home cooked meals a day
- camping
- comprehensive instruction
- the experience of participating in our farm and community.

For more information on all our workshops, go to:

www.quailsprings.org or www.earthenshelter.com

Email Sasha at: sasha@quailsprings.org or reach us by phone at (805) 886-7239