

Saturday February 7th, 2015

10:00am until 12:00noon

PRUNING TECHNIQUES

what works – and why

Join two local legends as they share their vast experience of how to cut it

Bring your clippers to engage in some guided experiential learning

Larry Saltzman specializes in Mediterranean Food Forests. He and his wife Linda have a 20 year old Food Forest in Santa Barbara. He has spoken and written extensively on Food Forests, and is President of the Channel Islands chapter of the California Rare Fruit Growers. He co-founded the Santa Barbara Organic Garden Club and is past President of the Permaculture Guild of Santa Barbara.

Marshall Chrostowski has been developing the seven acre on-campus demonstration market gardens at Pacifica Graduate Institute for over 20 years, producing a wide variety of organic herbs, fruits, grains and vegetables. A former professor of ethno-botany, who also trained as a plant ecologist and soil scientist, he practices and teaches sustainable farming and seed saving techniques.