

6 2017 Seedsaving Workshop

July 22

“Back to Basics”
Melanie Blankenship
new time! 10:00 - NOON
LOCATION:
Nature’s Touch Nursery & Harvest
225 S. Main Street, Templeton

July 22

- seedsaving basics 25 February
 - planning 25 March
 - grains + 22 April
 - strawberries 27 May
 - summer fruits 24 June
 - community harvest 26 August
 - native plants 23 September
- hosted by

In this workshop:
We'll be meeting at Nature's Touch in Templeton near the end of July heat, so that means a MORNING meeting! Our host and presenter is the amazing Melanie Blankenship, a life-long champion for family, food, and organic farming. "Back to Basics" will address seasonal gardening, small scale farming, dry farming, how to read soil quality, companion planting, and how to provide for yourself within your means.

Melanie owns Natures Touch Nursery & Harvest, and has been a contract seed grower and seed tester. She represented SLO County District 1 for 4 years on the Ag Liaison Advisory Board and now works as an edible landscape consultant while she runs the store, deli, and nursery.

Fee: $15 per workshop supports SLO Seed Exchange community projects and collaborations

email: stteresa@kcbx.net (tel) 805-543-5364
www.facebook.com/sloseedexchange