Become a 'Villager'

Definition of 'villager' : an inhabitant of a village

At Our Global Family Village, we're promoting global unity and permaculture design principles by growing food crops from the four corners of the globe through regenerative agriculture techniques.

We imagine a place where families can come to be on a farmland and participate in co-creating the "commons" where we share global horticulture, permaculture, agriculture and indigenous culture.

Come be part of the village and join in co-creating the vision of all of us being part of one family who are peaceful inhabitants of planet Earth.

Come and farm the land with other villagers. There is no financial cost. We share in the work and in the joy of farming together.

Our Global Family Village Culture is based on

GRATITUDE
EMPATHY
STEWARDSHIP
RESPECT
